

Dr. Mazen Kurdi

I am an associate professor of Pediatric Surgery at King Abdulaziz University Hospital in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia. I have also served as the Head of the Paediatric Surgery Division and Deputy Chairman of the Centre for Sex Determination and Correction. Not only that, but I am also the President of the Saudi Scientific Association of Paediatric Surgery. I have earned my Fellowship from the Royal College of surgeons in Ireland. I have had the privilege of publishing in many top international journals. Not only that but I have considerable experience when it comes to presenting and attending international conferences and workshops related to Paediatric Surgery. I am also considered to be a core member of some well-known professional associations, some of which include the Saudi Medical Council, Saudi Association of general surgery, Saudi Association of pediatric surgery, Egyptian Association of pediatric surgery, International Pediatric Congress for hypospadias and Disorder of sex development and the Arab Association of Paediatric Surgery.
